LANGLEY, BRITISH COLUMBIA -- Effective August 22, 2011, Vanguard Fenestration (a division of VPL Enterprises Ltd.) has sold their metal and die cast division to Fasco of Mississauga, Ontario. This represents a move by Vanguard to focus on their plastic manufacturing division, while allowing Fasco to expand their market and extend their product offering throughout North America.

"We are very pleased with this sale," comments Bob Smart, President & CEO of VPL Enterprises. "This allows us to increase our focus on our plastic injection molded products as we continue to pursue our growth strategy within the North American fenestration market."

Mark Straub, General Manager of Fasco adds, "This acquisition is a tremendous strategic fit for Fasco. For years we have serviced a mainly Eastern North American market. By purchasing the Vanguard metals business with their Western location, we now are able to easily service a North American market." VPL Enterprises is a niche manufacturer of plastic injected molded products, located in Langley, BC.

VPL's brands include Primex, products for the telecommunications and construction industry; Vanguard, which focuses on fenestration products, hand shopping baskets and shelving products; and Premo, offering pharmaceutical vials and flower nursery pots.

Fasco, whose head office is in Mississauga, ON specializes in providing high quality metal die cast products to the window and door industry throughout North America.
